TIMELY TIPS.

BY JOSEPHINE GRO.

THE STAGE ASPIRANT OR "THE (REFLECTED)

Once upon a Time, when Plays were First Produced, there arose the Necessity for Some One who should assume the Head of Affairs.

one who should assume the Head of Anairs.

and the Responsibility of Production.

Whatever Title that Indispensable Person
then held, he is Now termed the Managers.

Managers are of Many different Dispositions, and of Devious Minds,—according to the Testament of various Aspirants who have had Occasion to Call upon them for Consider-ation as to their Dramatic Abilities.

The Manager spoken of in this Fable, was pirant What he had come for,—a Chance to "Act Out" on the Stage.

At which, the Visitor opened Wide, his round, small, pale Eyes, and the weak little Aperture in his Face that served him as a Mouth.

Then suddenly Switching on to other subjects, the Manager (he had plenty of Waste Time that day) drew from the Youth in 3

Minutes, just About All he knew .- this, without Touching on what was Uppermest in the Aspirant's mind (little m). He Tautalizing-ly kept away from it, seeing that the Youth owed Anxlety to Get Down to the Object

What the Manager gathered from his Caller, was—that he was born of Humble but T-red Parents, the Sort who Disdain Much Toil;—

This, with All the Sensational News that Yellow Journalism furnished, filled a little mind whose Will was its weakest Faculty.

From Time to Time, he had read in the Papers how, many Men and Women, who had Broken either Moral or Criminal Laws, had achieved both Fame (?) and Fortune in the Calcium of the Journals and the Stage,—this, when Exploited by Clever Man-

So he Hied Himself.

At length, his Prospective Manager queried as to What the Aspirant could Advance as a Drawing Card,—and What was his Claim for being Sprung upon the Gaze of the Theatregoing Public.

To which, the Youth in a thin voice which was bursting in places, with Importance, Pride, and Assurance, replied that, thoush he, himself had not been Guilty of any Great Deed, he had a Cousin whose Husband was to be Executed the Following Week.

He suggested that he could be exhibited an "The Rising Young Man Whose Cousin's Husband had been Hung." (after next week.)

At the Startling Announcement, the Manager began Letting the Aspirant Down, by gently informing him that, for a Strong Attraction, he was Too Far Removed from the Star Part in the Crime;

the Star Part in the Crime;
That if He had been his Cousin's Husband, the Man himself who was to be Hung.

Turn of Mind.

It was his Pleasure and Recreation, (when he Ras not Rushed) to Lead his App.icants for Histrionic Honors, to Tell Ail they knew and More too, and then to gently Let them Down, and Out.

One Young Spring Day, he was sitting at his Desk, (there's where they Sit Most of the Fime) when an Aspirant, disguised in the small personality of a Youth of About 21 Warm Summers. (he were thet melted.) 21 Warm Summers, (he wore that melted look) entered his "Holy of Holies."
The Manager's "Eagle Brain and Massive

Eye" (apologies to Barnabee) took the Measure of his Visitor in Less Time than it takes to tell of it,—at the same time, saying to himself, "here is Meat for me."

The Youth walked in with Ingenuous Assurance, suggesting the Probability that he was the Pet of the Family at Home, and that he had not yet become to Realize what that he had not yet begun to Realize what the Future held for him in the Way of Disappointments.

He had the Confident Air of One who felt he had a Good Thing up his Sieeve, and he had a Good Thing up his Sieeve, and that It would Get him what he was After. There was a peculiar Quiszical Look in the Eye of the Manager that did not Tally with his Solicitous Salutation, and Suave Invitation to the Youth, to be Seated.

The latter, the Narrow-foreheaded Aspirant accepted, and, with an Awkwardness which showed his unfamiliarity with Drawing Rooms, or Managers' offices, he Got Into the proffered Chair.

The Satirical Manager, noting All this, opened the Conversation by telling the As-

Parents, the Sort who Disdain Much Toil:— that they had lacked the energy to Push him much beyond learning to Read and Write, and Do the little figuring necessary to Compute the Price of so-many yards of ribbon at so-many cents Per Yard.

His Reading had been Confined to "Penny Dreadful" literature, which his small, weak brain (little b) had thirstily Drunk in.

This. with All the Sensational News that toriety, found Sale for their Wares (their Notorious Names, not Talent) through the unhealthy Demand for Sensation.

thought the Pin-headed Youth,

"So," thought the Pin-headed Youth,
"why may not I,"—though he had as yet, committed no Crime, Moral or Otherwise,—
"Why may not I, with a Proper Manager, Reach Out and become Popular?"
"Now is My Chance," he had said to himself, "now, while I have been made Temporarily Important by the Crime of a Distant Relative,—while I am the Cynosure of All Eyes among friends and Acquaintsnees.—

"I will Hie me to a Manager who will See my Value, and Place me in the Way of Glorifying my Name, and likewise, make a few Columns in the Bank Book which I have not yet Started."

they Might perhaps have Done a Little Business together,—but as the Matter stood, be ould See no Money Ahead in assuming the Management of the Aspirant's Career.
So, Crushed and Disheartened at the very Start,—at the first Remote Chance that had come to him, for a Public Career, the Stoopshouldered Youth sadly Took his Leave.

Tip:—You will Fail, if you Try to Shine by Replected Light. Shine by your Own Light,—Do Something, or Be Somebody through your Own Talent or Energy.

Charles Hoyt, the playwright was known to have a strong tendency to sarcasm when ever displeased.

ever displeased.

He indulged in these word-thrusts frequently, and almost always to the discomfiture of those to whom they were directed. Hundreds of instances are related by those formerly in his employ, of how they were squeiched by a cutting reply to some question or suggestion that did not happen to suit at the time.

bappen to suit at the time.

On one occasion, Mr. Hoyt was rehearsing a play in which several new people were to appear. One young lady in particular, seemed to be under the impression that she was quite the actress, though this was the first time she had appeared on any stage,—some strong influence had placed her in the com-

Her pert assurance troubled the nervous manager, but he let her give her single line as best pleased herself, never offering so a suggestion as to the business that went with it.

The company went over the scene several times, and the self-satisfied beginner changed the reading of her one line as well as the business, each time. Still, never a word or a look from Hoyt. Those who knew him best, also knew that the confident young lady was going to have her feelings hurt sooner or later.

After the rehearsal, she went over to where Mr. Hoyt was standing in the wings, evidently preoccupied with thoughts of deep importance. Heedless of the fact that she was inturrupting the manager at an inopportune time, she addressed him.

"Oh. Mr. Hoyt," said she, "you must have noticed that I said my line in several ways, and the last time, I added a few words of my own."

"Yes,—yes,—I did notice that you changed something or other," dryly answered the playwright.

play ball with junior teams around his play ball with junior teams around his home. His professional career began with the Williamsport (Pa.) team, in 1896. In 1897 he was with the Shamokin (Pa.) Club, and his work attracted the attention of Manager Arthur Irwin, of the Toronto Club, and his work attracted the attention of Manager Arthur Irwin, of the Toronto Club, of the Eastern League, and he was engaged by Irwin for the 1898 campaign, and in that year he participated in one hundred and eighteen championship games. At the close of the Eastern League season, he was transferred to the Washington Club, of the National League, and then took part in sixteen championship games. In 1899 he participated in ninety-nine championship contests with the Hartford Eastern League team, and was reengaged by Hartford for the season of 1900. In that campaign he played in one hundred and two championship games. His batting and fielding were remarkably clever. Five times he made three safe hits to the game. His long safe drives included three homers, four triples and seventeen double baggers. Once he accepted all of twelve chances at short field, three times ten chances, once nine, eight times eight and fifteen times seven. He was with the champion Brooklyns during the earlier part of the present campaign, playing third base from May 8 to July 18, inclusive, when he was transferred to the Hartford Eastern League team. His weakness in betting caused the Brooklyn Club to release him. Since he joined the Hartfords, on July 19, he has improved wonderfully in batting. Between July 19 and Aug. 10 he accepted all of forty-seven chances.

ARTHUR J. LAMB,

The widely known sketch writer and author of many popular songs and burlesques, was born in Bath, Eng., thirty-one years ago, and during the past ten years has devoted him-self exclusively to literary pursuits. From modest beginnings in newspaper and magazine efforts he gradually broadened his field zine efforts he gradually broadened his field until several burlesques, numerous dramatic sketches, and songs by the score have been numbered among the products of his facile pen. Space will not permit an enumeration of his various works in use by singers and players upon the stage, but he claims to have more songs and sketches in continuous use than any of his contemporary writers. His song themes cover a wide scope, while his sketches are well constructed and are being played by many of the headliners in vaudeville. Mr. Lamb has lately branched out into a publishing business of his own, and will issue his compositions as well as those of other authors.

While holding front rank as a player in the East during the regime of what is now considered "old time billiards," it was in the South and Southwest that he attained his greatest prominence as a match player. Retiring from the billiard arena in 1880, he entered mercantile life as a collector and representative of a large New York firm, remaining in that position for ten years, when he received an appointment on the editorial staff of The CLIPPER. After some years he resigned to accept the position of assistant manager to J. Austin Fynes, who was then managing the Union Square Theatre, this city, for B. F. Keith. When Mr. Fynes left Mr. Keith to become general manager of all of F. F. Proctor's enterprises, Mr. Butler also left Mr. Keith and became manager of the Twenty-third Street Theatre, later going to Albany to assume charge of Mr. Proctor's theatre in that city. Mr. Butler has been the resident manager of Proctor's Pleasure Palace, at Fifty-eighth Street and Third Avenue, this city, for the past three years. On Sept. 9 he accepted terms with Messrs. Hyde & Behman, the well known vaudeville managers, and is located at their theatre on Adams Street, Brooklyn, which is one of the most popular theatres in this country.

Notes from Howard & Black's Comedians: Manager G. W. Howard, after a careful examination of local conditions, canceled part of our Western time and is now basily engaged in booking a new route. Our opening date will be some time in October, in the Middle West. We will carry a company of unusual excellence and play an exclusive reperiory of the very best royalty pieces obtainable. Each and every piece will be staged in a careful manner, with special scenery and electrical effects. Neveral European van-leville acts have already been engaged, and our specialties will be a feature. We will play three night stands exclusively and bill our attraction lavishly.

Notes from the Flora De Yoss-Co.: We played fair week at Darlington, Wis., to the largest busines in the history of the house. Miss De Voss gave up her room at the hotel for a jockey who was almost killed in the races on Wednesday, and Geo. De Petit and houghas Morgan saved a young girl from burning to death Thursday. Her dress caught fire and she was all ablaze in a moment, but Messrs. De Petit and Morgan succeeded in smothering the finance. Mr. Rotnor has some time booked over our old terrifay. The company includes fourteen people, most of whom have been with the company two or more seasons.

Charles Hoyt, the playwright was known

He indulged in these word-thrusts frequently, and almost always to the discon-fiture of those to whom they were di-rected. Hundreds of instances are related by those formerly in his employ, of how they were squelched by a cutting reply to some question or suggestion that did not bappen to suit at the time.

On one occasion, Mr. Hoyt was rehearsing

On one occasion, Mr. Hoyt was rehearsing a play in which several new people were to appear. One young lady in particular, seemed to be under the impression that she was quite the actress, though this was the first time she had appeared on any stage,—some strong influence had placed her in the com-

Her pert assurance troubled the nervous manager, but he let her give her single line as best pleased herself, never offering so much as a suggestion as to the business that

The company went over the scene several times, and the self-satisfied beginner changed the reading of her one line as well as the business, each time. Still, never a word or a look from Hoyt. Those who knew him best, also knew that the confident young lady was going to have her feelings hurt sooner or later.

After the rehearsal, she went over to where Mr. Hoyt was standing in the wings, evidently preoccupied with thoughts of deep importance. Heedless of the fact that she was interrupting the manager at an inopportune time, she addressed him.

"Yes,—yes,—I did notice that you changed something or other," dryly answered the playwright. After the rehearsal, she went over to

FRANK A. GATINS,

The clever short stop of the Hartford team, of the Eastern League, was born March 7, 1873, at Johnstown, Pa., and learned to play ball with junior teams around his home. His professional career began with the Williamsport (Pa.) team, in 1896. In 1897 he was with the Shamokin (Pa.) Club, and his work attracted the attention of Manager Arthur Irwin, of the Toronto Club, of the Eastern League, and he was engaged and his work attracted the attention of Manager Arthur Irwin, of the Toronto Club, of the Eastern League, and he was engaged by Irwin for the 1898 campaign, and in that year he participated in one hundred and eighteen championship games. At the close of the Eastern League season, he was transferred to the Washington Club, of the National League, and then took part in sixteen championship games. In 1899 he participated in ninety-nine championship contests with the Hartford Eastern League team, and was re-engaged by Hartford for the season of 1900. In that campaign he played in one hundred and two championship games. His batting and fielding were remarkably clever. Five times he made three safe hits to the game. His long safe drives included three homers, four triples and seventeen double baggers. Once he accepted all of twelve chances at short field, three times ten chances, once nine, eight times eight and fifteen times seven. He was with the champion Brooklyns during the earlier part of the present campaign, playing third base from May 8 to July 18, inclusive, when he was transferred to the Hartford Eastern League team. His weakness in notting caused the Brooklyn-Club torelease him. Since he joined the Hartfords, on July 19, he has improved wonderfully in batting. Between July 19 and Aug. 10 he batted safely in all except two games. Then in six games between July 31 and Aug. 8 he accepted all of forty-seven chances.

ARTHUR J. LAMB.

The widely known sketch writer and author of many popular songs and burlesques, was born in Bath, Eng., thirty-one years ago, and during the past ten years has devoted himself exclusively to literary pursuits. From modest beginnings in newspaper and magazine efforts he gradually broadened his field zine efforts he gradually broadened his field until several burlesques, numerous dramatic sketches, and songs by the score have been numbered among the products of his facile ren. Space will not permit an enumeration of his various works in use by singers and players upon the stage, but he claims to have more songs and sketches in continuous use than any of his contemporary writers. His song themes cover a wide scope, while his sketches are well constructed and are being played by many of the headliners in vaudeville. Mr. Lamb has lately branched out into a publishing business of his own, and will issue his compositions as well as those of other authors.

H. P. BUTLER

Was for many years, prior to 1880, prominently indentified with billiards in this country, both as manager and proprietor of well known establishments. While holding front rank as a player in the East during the regime of what is now considered "old time billiards," it was in the South and Southwest that he attained his greatest prominence as a match player. Retiring from the billiard arena in 1880, he entered mercantile life as a collector and representative of a large New York firm, remaining in that position for ten years, when he received an appointment on the editorial staff of The CLIPPRE. After some years he resigned to accept the position of assistant manager of J. Austin Fynes, who was then managing the Union Square Theatre, this city, for B. F. Keith. When Mr. Fynes left Mr. Keith to become general manager of all of F. F. Proctor's enterprises, Mr. Butler also left Mr. Keith and became manager of the Twenty-third Street Theatre, later going to Albany to assume charge of Mr. Proctor's theatre in that city. Mr. Butler has been the resident manager of Proctor's Pleasure Palaca, at Fifty-eighth Street and Third Avenue, this city, for the past three years. On Sept. 9 he accepted terms with Messrs. Hyde & Behman, the well known vaudeville managers, and is located at their theatre on Adams Street, Brooklyn, which is one of the most popular theatres in this country.

Notes from Howard & Black's Comedians: Manager G. W. Howard, after a careful examination of local conditions, canceled part of our Western time and is now busily engaged in booking a new route. Our opening date will be some time in October, in the Middic West. We will carry a company of unusual excellence and play an exclusive repertory of the very best royalty pleces obtainable. Each and every piece will be staged in a careful manner, with special scenery and electrical effects. Several European vandeville acts have already been emaged, and our specialities will be a feature. We will play three night stands exclusively and bill our attraction lavishly.

Notes from the Flora De Yosa-Co.: We played fair week at Darlington, Wis., to the largest busines in the history of the house. Miss De Yoss gave up her room at the hotel for a jockey who was almost killed in the races on Wednesday, and Goo. De Petit and Bouglas Morran saved a young girl-from burning to death Thursday. Her dress caught fire, and she was all ablaze in a moment, but Messrs. De Petit and Morgan succeeded in smothering the finnes. Mr. Rotnour has some time booked over our old territory. The company includes fourteen people, most of whom have been with the company two or more seasons.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Washington.—The news of the autempted assassination of the President had a most depressing effect upon business during the latter part of the week just past; otherwise the result of week's business would have been very large, the houses open having played to their tuil capacity up to that time. In case there should be a fatal termination of the assault upon the President, or as long as there is an uncertainty as to the result of his injuries, theatrical business here will be seriously interfered with. Three of our houses are already billed for opening next—week, Monday—night, Sept.—16, viz.; The National, with "Foxy Grandpa," the Chase with a polite vaudeville bill, and the Bijou, with Howard & Emerson's Company, headed by Charmion.

Academy of Music (Whitman Osgood, manager).—This week J. K. Emmett and Lottle Gilson, in "The Outpost." Last week "The Great White Diamond" had packed houses up to Friday night, when business dropped considerably because of the report from Buffalo of the attempted assassination: "Barbara Frietchie" is underlined for 16-21.

Lyceum Theatric (Eugene Kernan, manager).—This week, T. W. Dinkins' Utopians. Last week M. M. Thiess' Wine, Woman and Song Co. made more than good, to crowded tonts all the week.

Carly Bryant's Burlesquers 16-21.

Circy's Lor, 13th and U Streets, N. W.—Gentry's Dog and Monkey Show had crowded tents all the week.

Carl John John Bridge Palm Garden and cake walk every evening last week, to a large following.

Christy Chase Lake and Chesapeake Beach were each weil patronized.

Ifant and Carrie De Marr, in "Foxy Grandpa."

CHASE'S THEATRE (Winnifred De Witt, manager) opens 16, with a polite vaudeville bill.

BLIOU THEATRE (Morris 8. Schlesinger manager) will open its senson 16, with Howard & Emerson's Own Co., including charmion. This will be the only traveling company which will find a place at this house this season, as on the evening commencing 23 the Bijou Theatre Stock Co., under the direction of John Grieves, who will produce weekly burlesques on the plan formerly used by him and under which the house enjoyed great popularity.

COLUMBIA THEATRE (Luckett & Dwyer, managers) opens 23, with Harry Smith's "Liberty Belies."

Atlanta.—At the Grand (H. L. & J. L. De Give, managers) "The Idol's Eye" Sept. 5-7. Mason and Mason, in "Rudolph and Adolph," opened the house 4. to fair returns. Booked: "McFadden's Flats" 10, Murray and Mac& II.

Columbia (H. L. & J. L. De Give, managers).—"Wanted, a Family," held the boards 2-4, and was liberally patroulzed. Una Clayton comes 9 for a week.

Lyckum (Coley Anderson, manager).—Good business was the rule at this house week of 2, when the following strong bill was presented: Eugene O'Rourke and company. James Richmond Glenroy, Cruske and Stevens, Casey and Le Clair, Atalle Spencer Koster and Forbes and Guina.

New Star (E. A. Paul, manager).—The opening of this house, which occurred Aug. 31, was a success in every respect. Standing room was at a premium early in the evening, and many were turned away, unable to gain admittance. The interior has been painted and decorated, and is illuminated by innumerable electric lights. The Gay Masqueraders was the opening atraction, and gave general satisfaction. The most clever act of the oilo was that of Silber and Emerson. They merited the liberal applause received. Hilliar was also in favor, while Leonel Carlson, the Wood Sisters, Zara and Zara, and Georgia Cunnigham were not without followers. Prof. Wm. Holmes has been engaged as musical director of the house.

THE SEVENGALAS opened Aug. 12 at the theatre in Saratoga for a week, to a crowded house. They are booked solid until May 24. Hereafter they will be known under the title of "Sevengalas," not Syingalis nor Syengalis. Their recent New York engagement at Cherry Blossom Grove was a sub-

LEON MOOSER, manager of the Flying Jordans' Vaudeville Co., writes from Japan, unsier daie of Aug. 8: "Company arrived in Monolulu June 20, and we opened in our big tent June 24, to capacity; in fact, turned away at least 1,500 people. We played this Juny 4 to spiendid business, and closed our Monolulu engagement night of July 5, at the Chinese Theatre, to almost 2,700 people. Saled July 6 for Yokahama, and opened at Yubic Hail, capacity about 800, July 20, to a spiendid house. Owing to the smallness of fine house were unable to put on our big sects, so played only two nights, 20, 22. spened at the Ichiamura Theatre, Tokio, 20, and played eight days, to big business. Last Sanday we opened at the Karbuki Theatre, the Metropolitan Opera House of Japan, to a packed house, and have played to such big business that our contract has been extended two weeks. Everything is very strange, and, although since our opening in Tokio we have only played to about fifty Europeans; all of the acts have given splendid satisfaction, those of the Flying Jordans, the Lucifers' strong act, high kicking, etc.; Mile. Admiaide, on the high wire; Jack Symonds, who is doing his monologue in Japanese, and Forrest Seabury's high dive making especially strong successes. We will undoubtedly remain in Japan for at least two months, and then go to Port Arthur, Vindivoditock, Tomsk and a few other Siberian seacoast towns. All of the company are well and so far delighted with their trp."

NEW YORK CITY

Review and Comment. With the Review and Comment. With the opening of four Broadway houses, in each of which a novelty was presented, the metropolitan season of 1901-02 auspiclorsly began last week. The weather throughout the week was fair, though somewhat warm, and good attendance was the rôle, the opening houses on Labor Day having been exceptionally good. Many first class houses are still dark, however, and the current month will have run its course before all of them will have run its course before all of them will have thrown open their doors.....The most important event of the past week was have thrown open their doors.... The most important event of the past week was the opening of the Energy Theatre on Sept.

2. when John Drew presented for the first time in this country "The Second in Command." a comedy, in four acts, by Capt. Robert Marshall. Had the play been written for Mr. Drew, his role of Major Christopher Bingham could scarcely have fitted him better, and after his missit of last season, there was cause for much rejoicing afforded by this opportunity to again see this deservedly popular star in a role kindred to those in which he has won the greater part of his laurels...... At the Knickenbocker Theatre, on Sept. 2. the Klaw & Erlanger Comedy Co., headed by Gus and Max Rogers, presented for the first time in this city "Rogers Brothers in Washington," a vanderlile farce, in three acts, by John J. McNaily, with lyries by Harry B. Smith and music by Maurice Levi. It won favorable comment..... On Tuesday evening. Sept. 3, the season began at Wallack's, when James K. Hackett, presented for the first time in this city "Don Cæsar's Return," described as a new trefitment of a famous stage character, in four acts, by Victor Mapes...... On Thursday evening. Sept. 5, occurren the opening of Webern & Firlips' Music Hall, and the presentation by the stock company of the house of a new burlesque, entitled "Hoity Tolty." tation by the stock company of the house of a new burlesque, entitled "Holty Tolty." Comment upon the two attractions last mentioned will be found elsewhere in this is-sue.... The MCEBAY HILL THEATER opened its season on Sept. 2, with a matinee per-formance by the stock company of Mar-garet Mayo's version of "Under Two Flags."

METROPOLIS ... Variety entertainment was furnished at Tony Pastor's, Ketth's Union Square, Hammerscein's Parable Gardens. SQUARE, HAMMERSTEIN'S PARADISE GARDENS, CHERRY BLOSSOM GROVE, the DEWEY, the LONDON, HURTIG & SEAMONN, the OLYMPIC, the ORPHEUM, the ATLANTIC GARDEN, the LION PALACE ROOF GARDEN and MINNEYS BOWERS and EIGHTH AVENUE.... In Manager Proctor's four houses, the FIFTH AVENUE, TWENTY-THIRD STREET, FIFTY-HIGHTH STREET and ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIFTH STREET, performances were given by the stock companies with accompanying vaudeville features.

Weber & Fields' Music Hall (Weber & Fields, managers).—This popular resort opened the season Thursday evening, Sept. 5. with "Holry Tolty," a burlesque skit, in two sections, book by Edgar Smith and music by John Stromberg. It is one of those compounds peculiar to this house, of which the public never seems to this house, of which the public never seems to the Each succeeding one seems to be better than its predecessor, and the present one is Just as certain of success as were any of those that have preceded it. Mr. Smith made his book too lengthy, but this is a full easily remedied. Mr. Stromberg never writes anything but melodious music, and the various songs and choruses throughout the work are certainly Strombergian, although he has falled to write one in his score which stands out prominently. But this may come later Incidental to the main work is a fravesty upon "Diplomacy," entitled "Deplemisy," which is cleverly done, both by the author and the players. Messrs. Weber & Fields have given the work a most lavish production. The scenes are strikingly haddsome, and the costumes are gorgeous. The staging of the production at the hands of Julian Mitchell was, of course, beyond criticism. The company has been further strengthened this season by Sam Bernard and Fritz Williams, and these, with all the favorites of last season's company, make it the strongest organization ever seen at this house. It seemed like old times to see the fife composed of Messrs. Weber and Fields and Sam Bernard at their funnaking, and they kept the audience in continual isoghter. De Wolf Boppey, Fay Templeton, Fritz Williams, John T. Kelly and Lee Harrison, and did their full share as laugh provokers, and Edilian Russell, respicator in handsome gowns, was as charming as ever, and saug delightfully. The work of the chorus was undered. Mr. Fields: Frederick Schnitzel, Sam Bernard: King Kazoo, John T. Kelly and Lee Harvard Yale. Fritz Williams, Philip Sauerbon, George Alt: Cante Burch. Cord is generally shortened and thereby made snapple;

Proctor's Fifth Avenue Threstre (L. Austin Fyros, manager). This week spened with Augustin Foly four act comely. "A symmett to a large and appreciative noticene," the various characters were well sustained theorge Gaston, as Justinian Babbitt, and II. J. Grill, as Marcus Brutus Sana, being the Committee of the calls, which few here have any means of knowing. Mills and Beecher, Fyne and Dandy, the biograph and the stereopticon complete the bill.

Murray Hill Theatre (Henry V. Donnelly, manager).—The bill this week provides a curtain rabser, by E. H. Sothern, entitled "Never Trouble Trouble The trouble Troubles You," with Eleanor Moretti as Lady Frances Boone. "Don Caesar de Razan" is the main play and is splendidly staged. Wm. Bramwell played the title role in proper style, and Laura Hope Crews as Princess Marianne, Alice Johnson as Mariana, and Rose Stuart as Countess de Bastio were sultable roles. The remainder were cast as follows; Charles H., W. Law; Don Salluste de Bazan, N. Sheldon Lewis; Ruy Blas, John S. Robertson; Marquis del Bastio, Robert McWade Jr.; Lazarillo, Geo. Henry Trader; Count Camporeal, Don Cherlfield; Marquis del Riege, G. T. Rabb; Don Pedro, C. Aveling; Don Manuel, William McKen; servant, Edgar A. Wolf; captain of the genard. William McKen; servant, Edgar A. Wolf; captain of the genary. —Later yre: grandee, Henry Barr. Next week, "Why Smith Left Home."

huber's Museum (John H. Anderson, manager).—Large crowds packed this house at each and every performance throughout the day. Sept. 9. The bill for the current week comeists of many novel features in the curio half and a large and atractive vaudeville bill in the theatre. In the curio half Blodget still holds the crowds with his expert bool exhibition: Frank, the broom king; Geo. Melivan, the fattooed wonder. Sam Furst, Rossi and L. Hurst also are to be seen in the curio hall. In the theatre the following array of well known vaudeville performers were to be seen in novel acts and singing turns; Walsh and Thorne, Morgan and McDonnid, Doyle and Davis, Mekolas and Croix, Murray and Freese, Kengan and Keagan, Hattle North, Geo, Barlow, Frank Golden and Annie Courtney.

Vicker's Theatre, Chicago.

Harlem.—Opera House (Alex Litchenstein, manager)—This is the last house to open, lack of suitable atraction being given as the reason for the late opening. "The Brixton Burglary" is the play for the opening week, and a full house turned out to witness the first performance. The play gave general satisfaction. Next week, Francis Wilson, in "The Strollers."

METHOTOLIS (Henry Rosenberg, manager).—"One of the Bravest" this week. The house was packed 9. Next week, Terry McGovern.

PROCTOR'S ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIFTH STREET THEATRE (J. Austin Fynes, general "Danager).—Business throughout the past week was of the best. The attraction for this week is "The Jilt." The cast could be improved upon in several respects, as it was not up to the standard. Both performances were well attended. Between acts the following appeared: Harry Tylor, F. W. Dunworth and C. Doris, in vaudeville.

acts the following appeared: Harry Tylor, F. W. Dunworth and C. Doris, in vaudeville.

HURTIG & SEAMON'S MUSIC HALL (Ben Hurtig, manager).—The business of the opening week was beyond expectation, the house being crowded at every performance. The bill this week includes prominent vaudeville features, headed by Felix and Barry. Others are: Charles Leonard Thatcher, in monologue; Trovollo, ventriloquist; Georgie Ingersoll, soprano (her first vaudeville appearance), and Montgomery and Stone.

OLYMPIC THEATRE (Thos. W. Valentine, manager).—Harry Morris' Twentieth Century Maids gave their first Harlem performance in several seasons and met with a most cordial reception, the company being one of the best of its kind. It opens with "A La Russia" and concludes with "The Mormon Wives," with Harry Morris in the star part. The costumes are of the finest and the company contributed their full share of the fun. Next week, Al. Reeves' Big Co.

ORPHEUM (Dr. Geo. Somers, manager).—Crowded houses nightly is the report from this popular house, and deservingly so, as the attractions are the best. A well filled house welcomed the payers for this week, and each and every act was well received. This week is Martha Berry, Nettle Van, Nellie Excelsior Duo, Irene Stewart, Lon Carter, the Russells, Martha Glovanni, the Hills, Mile. Zoar, and the Simon Bros.

NEW YORK STATE.

NEW YORK STATE.

Buffalo.—The all absorbing topic at the present time is the awful tragedy perpetrated by the anarchist, Leon Czoigosz. The heroic battle with death of Pres.dent McKinley, at the home on Delaware Avenue of the President of the Pan-American Exposition, John G. Milburn, is the first and only question of import in the minds of citizens and visitors alike. The President and Mrs. McKinley were unselfishly partaking of the Exposition hospitalities and festivities, and lending their kindly aid and influence to our great fair, when the handkerchief covered hand and pistol of the assassin made its appearance in the beautiful Temple of Music at the reception to the President Sept. 6, upon the recurn of the president sept. 6, upon the recurn of the president in party from a day at Niagara Faits. The day previous, President's Day, was the most important and largest attended since the opening of the Pan-American, 117,000 people being in attendance, including the cabinet, foreign ministers and dignituries in general. The huge buildings, the Midway and the liluminations were closed for the rest of the day, after four o'clock, the time the President was shot. A temporary gloom pervades Exposition affairs, of course, and the attendance has necessarily been affected, but it was the President's wish, uttered in a conscious moment, that his misfortune should not be permitted to interfere with the successful progress of the fair. Rallroad Day, 14, will doubtless be the record breaking day in attendance, as is indicated at this writing. Rochester Day, 7, was largely patronized. Pain's fireworks and his ingenious and weird creations continue a leading feature and magnet.

STAR THEATEE (J. R. Stirling, manager).—Ward and Vokes, in "The Head Walters."

Chiengo.—Those attractions which made last week one of almost unbroken prosperity remain this week. Not one novelty is offered but the week will be a large one judging from the clamor for seats at the majority of the houses at the end of the week just past. The run of "The Explorers" at the learhorn will end next Sunday. The house will be dark until Sept. 21 when the stock commences its new season. While last week was one of excellent business at nearly all the regular houses, the weather was not aninviting to out of door recreation, and the Summer parks prospered fairly well. The cooler temperature, however, has served its notice and two of the Summer parks closed this week.

LLINOIS (Will J. Davis, manager).—The Klaw & Brianger production of Gen. Lew Wallace's "Ben Hur" packed this house at every performance last week. The line in front of the box office has been almost unbroken. Seats are now on sale up to Sept. 28, and the demand is big. Few, if any blays, seen recently in Chicago appeal to the ye as does this production, and the acting is all that could be asked. Big business is assured for a long time to come.

DRARBORN (W. W. Tillotson, manager).—The Explorers" will be retired from this sage next Sunday, after having been presented one hundred and two times. Last week was one of light business. (a) Which "points a moral and adorns a tale" we have often told—when facing a great master with an overshadowing reputation play an attacking opening, and keep attacking him for all you are worth.

(b) With nominally a plece down, the courage, tenacity and self reliance with which Mr. Marshall fights this game is something admirable. It was surely the feature of the second round.

(c) We give the interesting position at this point; from which neither player can be accused of anything less than "doing his possible" to win:

Pennsylvania Railroad Reduced Rates to San Francisco.

On account of the Triennial Convention of the Protesiant Episcopal Church, to be held at San Francisco beginning October 2, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell round trip tickets to San Francisco from all points on its line at greatly reduced rates.

Tickets will be sold September 18 to 25, inclusive, and will be good to return to leave San Francisco not earlier than October 3, and only on date of execution by Joint Agent. to whom a fee of fifty cents must be paid, and passengers must reach original starting point by November 15, 1901.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will also run a Personally-Conducted Tour to the Pacific Coast on this occasion by special train, starting September 23 and returning October 22. Round trip rate $185.

For further information apply to ticket agents, or address Geo, W. Boyd, Assistant Goneral Passenger Agent, Philadelphia.

Number Tex of Goodwin's Official Turf Guide, with all the racing data up to Aug. 26, has just come to hand and is as well printed and complete as usual. The price is 75 cents and the book is worth it and more, as it is Indispensable to racing men.

OUR LONDON LETTER

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

"Sherlock Holimes," with William Gillette as its hero, will follow a week later at the Lyceum, and the popular American farce, "Are You a Mason?" will be produced about Sept. 12, at the Shaftesbury Theatre, under a sort of theatrical triple alliance of America, England and Australia as represented by Charles Frohman, Geo. Edwardes and Geo. Alusgrove, respectively. It will be tried on the provincial bowwow at Worthing a few evenings earlier, and "Sherlock Holmes" is also to have a canine canier at Liverpool in advance of its London production. It is stated by one paper that this play, is simply being written "to expend Mr. Hick's surplus energy." Also that, in spite of the superhuman energy this young man possesses, the dialogue will be pure Dickens and every endeavor will be made to preserve the spirit of the story." The other characters include: Bob Cratch!, Terry Tom and Scrooge's nephew, and they will be played respectively by Compton Coutts, Master Geo. Hersee and Seymour Hick's bother, Stabley Brett, who has several 'mes played Seymour's part in "Sweet and Twenty." Mrs. Hicks (Ellalme Terriss) has also had her understudy, Dsisy Thimm, trequently employed as the herolm of the same tery successful plece, and Miss Thimm has £cored very nicely.

Seymour Hicks has also been at work on a fairy plece for the Vandeville's Christmas season. why was this manuscript so long 'forgotten?' "
Apropos of Geo. Alexander, who is doubtless the actor-manager alluded to. Clyde Fitch's play for Mr. Alexander is based on the story of Major Andre, the British spy, who was hanged during the War of the Revolution, and on hearing that the play had to do with that period of American history, the theatrical reporter of The Daily Express was surprised to learn that its hero was not George Washington. Major Andre, by the way, has a tomb in Weslminster Abbey, where a marble figure of Britannia weeps marble tears above his final resting place.

The story that Arthur Roberts fell on the stage the other night at the Glose and cut his face open on a bottle is now 'officially' denied. The wound is said to have been an old one which burst open suddenly,
"probably by reason of the make up."

Sir Thomas Lipton, now a lion on your side, in a recent interview here, said; "I am not a great theatregoer. I do not think life, and never did I do so until the last could not properly allow the time to give myself up to being amused for so long by other people. In a vitlated atmosphere. I felt I could do better for myself."

Imperial Theatre.—"A Man of His Word." Play, in three acts, by Boyle Lawrence, Produced for the first time on any stage Aug. 21. This play introduced Herbert Waring in the double role of actor-manager, as well as the hero of Mr. Lawrence's military play, the scenes of which are laid on the Northwestern frontier of India. It may be pronounced a success for both author and actor. Mr. Lawrence is a dramatic critic on the London press, and this venture into treams of the playwrights he has so frequently overhauled in print partakes of the nature of melodrama. It is full of strong writing, and has a plentitude of human isterest from start to fin'sh, some of the situations being very well worked up and effective.

The hero of "A Man of His Word" is Captain Meredith, of the British Army, and the story revolves about the ethical puzzle should a man refuse to break his word even when his silence involves the loss of his honor in the eyes of the world, as well as causing the deepest pain to those who lore and respect him. As Mr. Lawrence puts the case, this is the right thing for a man to do, and so his hero does so and remains in disgrace until a confession relieves him of the awful stain upon his name.

The action begins at the very start when a small British-Indian force is found in a very tight place during a skirmish with some native tribesmen. Colonel. Sir Philip Pansdon, the commanding officer. Lieut. St. Ametell's horse ionse, sturning to camp on the horse of a young officer. Lieut. St. Austell's horse loose, sturning to camp of foct. Captaln Meredith finds the horse affect it into camp. Others who come in from the fight have dying, but the young officer did not know who it was who took his tion of the playgoing public that its sealed at the outset. The author declined to be "drawn" by the calls of the audience at the close of the performance, and it was easy to see that the temper of the house would have caused one of the outbursts of hooting and booing which is so charming a feature of London playhouse manners. A version of the play was once done in America under the name of "Joseph."

The Oxford University Press is to produce a facsimile edition of the First Folio of Shakespeare, and the entire edition has been subscribed for. It will not be ready until the end of 1902.

"Carmen" was sung at Bayonne, France, last week, in an arena with a stage 100ft, wide by 35 deep. Two bulls were killed by Spanish toreadors in the bull fighting scene. Percy H. Vernon, Ida Reid and Mary Thornhill have been elected members of the Actors' Association. The council will not meet again until Sept. 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Alexander are paying a visit to the Duke and Duchess of Fife. in Scotland. They are undoubtedly on unique terms of friendliness with the roya family, and such visits are not infrequent to the homes of the other royal princesses. The Duchess of Fife is a daughter of the king.

Oct. 14 has been selected for the reopening of the Haymarket, and the run of "The Second in Command" will be resumed. The house has been redecorated during the company's vacation. A new play by John Oliver Hobbs (Mrs. Craigle) may follow when the current attraction begins to lose its hold on the public.

The funeral of the late Robert Shone, whose snicide, was reported last week, took place 28, the burial being organised by Fitaroy Cardiner and Bertle Bheldon. Frank Cur-

Wheeler, Neilie McNelle, Tom Fey, Ada Yule, Ada Clifton and Lettle Colton. Business splendid.

Barrett's Theatrie (D. & M. Barrett, proprietors).—This house, formerly the Phoenix, came to life again 2, opening to good business. The people included: Dan Barrett. Billy Barlow, Wm. De Ome. Neille Cook. Will Cox, Katie Ray and Wm. Price.

Mose Feystein has returned from his vacation in South Texas, and is again in charge of the programme and advertising at the Standard.

Dubuque.—At the Grand Opera House (Wm. T. Roehl, manager) the regular season opened with "In a Woman's Fower," Aug. 28, to a fair house. The new decorations and hangings make this house one of the prettlest in the State. Bookings: "For Her Sake" Sept. 4. "Two Merry Tramps" 5, West's Minstreis 6, "When We Were Twenty-one" 7, "King of the Opium Ring" 19, "The Village Postmaster" 21. ... John Miller, of Pawnee Bill's Wild West, is still in the hospital, but his eyes are out of danger. He is being cared for by the Actors Fund physician and will rejoin the show as soon as possible. ... Alleen Brower, soprano, has been spending the Summer here since her return from Paris, where she has been studying several years. She leaves for New York in a few days and will sing this Winter in concert under the management of C. I. Young. Herr Kronold, 'cellist, is also a member of the company. They open their season Nov. 5.

Marshalltown.—The Odeon Theatre (Busby Bros. managers) is dark. Billed: Galveston.—At the Harmony Theatre (David H. Davis, manager) the Ewing-Taylor Co., at popular prices, closed a week's engagement 1, to fair business.

Jordan. Virginia Miller, Marie Leonard, Ida Leonard, May Carson, Jennie Galvin, Pearl Duty, Jesie Spicer, Eva Hoffman and Mabel Gwynn. The stock presents a comedy, entitled "A Spring Chicken." Business continues big.

San Antonio.—At the Grand Opera House (Sidney A. Wels, manager) beginning Sept. 1 with daily matinee, the Braunig Stock Company opened the season, to good business. The company closes 8. Coming: Klimt-Hearn Stock Co. 9-14, except 11, when Leon Herrmann appears. The house has been thoroughly renovated, and new scenery and lights have been added.

EMPIRE OPERA HOUSE.—The Krause-Taylor Co. is presenting repertory at popular prices, to good business.

DEATHS IN THE PROFESSION.

DEATHS IN THE PROFESSION.

GEORGE OSMOND TEARLE, the well known actor, died Sept. 6, at Newcastle-on-Tyne, Eng. 91- was bern at Plymouth, Eng., March 26, 1852. In 1869, at the age of seventeen years, he interpreted the role of Gulidenstorn, in "Hamlet," at the Adelphi Theatre, Liverpool. He succeeded well enough in this venture to win for himself engagements in the provinces during the following six years. The ambition of Mr. Tearle's younger days was to get a London engagement. This goal was reached in 1875. On March 26 of that year he made his debut at the Galety Theatre, in "Rose Michel." The play was a signal failure, but Mr. Tearle's part of George De Buissey was portrayed so well that he received several flattering offers from London managers, one of which, that of Mr. Chatterton, he accepted. After this he had a secure position as leading juvenile man at the Drury Lane, Theatre Royal and Adelphi. His success was unquestionable, and he had the choice of theatres at his disposal. After this Mr. Tearle played "Hamlet" again in Liverpool, and there organized a company of his own, declining the offer of Mr. Buckstone to become the successor of Mr. Rendall at the Haymarket Theatre. The following four years he toured the country, playing the entire round of legitimate drama. He was brought to New York by Lester Wallack in 1880, and made his first appearance at his theatre at the corner of Thirteenth Street and Broadway, in "The Guv'nor," with Harry Pitt and William Elton, who made their first American appearance at the same time. In this theatre at that time. He acted Charles Surface when the new theatre at Thirtieth Street and Broadway was opened, and remained there as leading man until he was succeeded late in the 80's, by Kvrle Bellew. He then returned to England, and appeared in the English provinces, where he has acted chiefly the Shakespearean repertory. He was married while in this country to Minnie Conway, after her marriage to Jules Levy, the cornettist, had been declared vold. They were married in Den

JAMES T. DALTON, a singer, died Aug. 31, at the Victoria Hospital, London, Can., from a complication of diseases, after an liness of several weeks. He was a mative of England, and when nineteer years of age, after serving a term at lithographing, studied and cultivated his voice. He lived in London, England, several years and sang with many notable vocalists, attaining some prominence in opera bonne. After coming to the United States he traveled with, several opera companies of note. He was for several years with the Holman Opera Co., and eventually married the leading ady member of the company. After the death of his wife Mr. Dalton was connected for a number of years with one of the Chicago theatres. At the termination of his engagement with the Chicago company he went to London, and during his residence there had made himself particularly useful in musical circles. He officiated as choir master in several of the churches of the city, and organized a number of gibe clubs in the city and surrounding townships. All his relatives, so far as known, live in England. The remains were interred Sept. 4. He was fifty-dive years of age.

Mrs. Annie Ainsley, an actress, died Sept. 1, at Newburg, N. Y. Her husband, a young daughter and a sister survive her.

As we go to press we learn of the death of Sam Lang, of Lang and Sharp. His death occurred Sept. 8, in Wilmington, Del.
